ABOUT TRUCKVAULT

In 1992 Chevrolet produced the first Tahoe; Armadillo TruckVault was in its infancy and operating from a shop in Seattle. We had no idea what was ahead.

Originally the TruckVault was built for pickups only. Upon attending the NRA show in Phoenix we had requests galore for the TruckVault for Broncos, Jeep Waggoners, and the Tahoe. Back at our plant I asked my friend and employee Mark Abel* to design an Armadillo TruckVault for Tahoes and the other newly minted sport utility vehicles. Mark did just that and a short time later Mark called me downstairs to look at the new Tahoe T-Drawer TruckVault. After looking at the wide and rather unwieldy drawer I said it would never work! But, with some doubt in my mind, I gave the go ahead to give it a try. The Chevrolet Tahoe was a huge success and so was the TruckVault we built for it, and it remains our number one seller today. TruckVault began to grow and early in 1997 we moved to our current location in Sedro-Woolley, Washington.

In my opinion we have grown and flourished due to three important reasons: we have listened to our customers, delivered the best product possible protected by a lifetime warranty, and provided a customer service experience that is second to none. Perhaps more importantly we have treated our employees with the respect they deserve and have made sure their needs are met to the best of our ability.

Thank all of you for your support. "Made in America" still works today.

Unfortunately Mark Abel died at the age of 50 on September 14, 2002 and never fully got to see the result of what he was so instrumental in creating. He has been missed.*

» SIZING YOUR VAULT

TruckVault products for full-length SUVs come in three primary lengths – Short, Medium and Full. View the adjacent table explaining the different size options.

SHORT: The short-length TruckVault fits snug against the third-row seat. We recommend a one-drawer configuration for these models.

MEDIUM: The mid-size TruckVault requires the removal of the third-row seat, but doesn't always reach the second row entirely, leaving extra room for storage. (Also for vehicles with no third-row seat.)

FULL: The full-size TruckVault extends all the way to the back of the second-row seat, providing a seamless storage space on top.

DRAWER WEIGHT TEST

“How much weight can I place in my TruckVault?” The best explanation is, “More than you can physically pull out!” Our normal answer is generally 200 lbs. per drawer and things will function normally for you depending on the size of drawer you have. So we set out to really put our product to the test by filling two Standard Drawers with 13 cases of shotgun shells and 4 sporting shotguns, equalling 379 pounds! Thinking this would be overkill, we were surprised to find that it actually still did not come close to reaching the drawers full capacity. Concluding that we are confident that each drawer could handle 300 lbs! That is some serious support for your serious gear.

TEST RESULTS:
As long as you can pull out and push in the drawers, it can handle more!

After a 2 hour span in a test oven heated to 150° F, each TruckVault remained roughly 28% cooler than the leading metal competitor.

DRAWER HEAT TEST

Can TruckVault take the heat?

We tracked down a truck-sized oven to find out. Our goal was to simulate the punishing heat found inside a vehicle mid-day in the desert - 150° Fahrenheit. The result? TruckVault product provided superior insulation and protection across the board, making it the best choice over similar steel or plastic products to protect sensitive electronics, plastics, food, ammunition and any other heat-sensitive contents.
